Glee Club Improves

By Bill Risko

The College Glee Club is a comparatively new organization on the St. Joe campus. Started in 1950, it immediately gained recognition in the Midwest as an accomplished singing group. Besides neighborhood concerts, the club presented Christmas and Spring Music Festivals, and later that year sang on a radio program over WFJL in Chicago. Showing its success over the air, the Glee Club was invited back to Chicago in 51-52, this time to sing over WMAQ. They also sang for the Mothers' Club in Chicago in the same season. In 52-53, the club gave concerts in Chicago, Fort Wayne, (Ind.), Decatur, (Ind.), Wapakoneta and Celina, Ohio, and Whiting, (Ind.), at the alumni meeting. After the regular season had been concluded, the National Broadcasting Company brought a sound truck to St. Joe and recordings were made. Last year, included among their schedule was a concert over WJJD and an appearance at Thorne Hall in Chicago.

Rev. Lawrence Heiman, director of the Glee Club since its birth, attended St. Joseph's College from 1934-1938. Here, as a student, he directed the Raleigh Club orchestra and was assistant director of the choir. From 1939-43 he studied at St. Charles Seminary, where he was choir director most of these years. He also led the orchestra for the duration of his stay. Fr. Heiman has been a member of the faculty at St. Joseph's since 1944. For the first several years, he pursued higher studies at various universities, while at the same time teaching speech, dramatics and music. Now, all his time is occupied in teaching music.

Plans for this year include appearances in various cities this spring. Cities on the agenda tentatively are: Chicago, (Ill.), Hammond, (Ind.), Gary, (Ind.), Fort Wayne, (Ind.), Defiance, Glandorf and Celina, Ohio.

Meanwhile plans are being formulated for a Christmas Music Festival on December 14th to be given here at St. Joe. The club intends to purchase a new set of tuxedos to be used for the first time in this appearance.

The Glee Club at present boasts 60 members, the largest group in history. Officers of the club are: George Leibforth, president; Charles Rohan, vice-president; Ray Schuessler, secretary-treasurer.

Ten Outstanding Seniors Make Annual Who's Who

By Jim Bruha

Ten outstanding members of the Senior class of St. Joseph's College have been chosen by their classmates for inclusion in the 1954-55 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. This annual publication is a listing of the outstanding members of the Senior classes of the many colleges and universities throughout the country. To be elected to the Who's Who is one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a senior.

Candidates for representation on the list were nominated by the senior class. From these nominations, the ten were chosen by a combined vote of the faculty and members of the Junior and Senior classes.

The nominations were based upon the students scholastic achievement, participation in extra-curricular activities, character and general attitude throughout his college career.

Those named to the list are:

William J. Barrett of Chicago, Illinois; a Philosophy major, Bill is a pre-theology student and possessor of a high scholastic average. His name has appeared on the Dean's List more than once.

Edmund F. Byrne of Peoria, Illinois; a Philosophy major, Ed has served as Feature Editor of Stuff and has made the Dean's List every marking period in his college career at St. Joseph's.

John J. Donnelly of Trenton, New Jersey; a Business Administration major, John, now in his fourth year of varsity play, is an outstanding center on the St. Joe football team. He was named most valuable player in 1952 and this season received the Lincoln Trophy as the most valuable player in the homecoming game. John is president of the Monogram Club and was vice president of his junior class.

James J. Francoeur of Anderson, Indiana; Jim is president of the Student Council and is majoring in Business Administration.

Maurice J. Garvey of Chicago, Illinois; Maurie is a regular outfielder for the St. Joe baseball team and he also holds a high scholastic index. He is majoring in the Social Sciences.

Sam J. Governale of Chicago, Illinois; Sam is a biology major and plans on entering medical school upon graduation from St. Joseph's. He was secretary of his junior class and has served on numerous committees during his college career.

George W. Kalafut of Chicago, Illinois; George is co-editor of the 1955 Phase and he is majoring in Economics. He is also vice-president of the Commerce Club and possesses a high scholastic index.

David Krigbaum of Marion, Ohio; Dave is a pre-med student majoring in Biology. Along with having a fine scholastic average he has won varsity monograms in football.

Stephen R. Patun of Chicago, Illinois; Steve is majoring in Business Administration and his name has frequently been seen on the Dean's List. He has willingly served on a great number of committees here at St. Joe's.

James F. Zid of Berwyn, Illinois; Jim is majoring in Accounting and plans to enter Law School upon graduation. He is a member of the Student Council and of the basketball team along with holding a high scholastic index.

Columbian Players Plan First Production Of Year

Final plans are being made for the first presentation of the Columbian Players this year. The cast for the three-act comedy was recently chosen by the director, Mr. Ralph Cappuccilli.

The male lead will be played by Edwin Hebda who plays the part of Teddy (Roosevelt) Brewster. In the romantic lead, Larry Brennan takes the part of Mortimer, with Jack Carlson assuming the role of his infamous brother, Jonathan.

Two experienced actresses have taken the parts of the old maids. Both have acted on the St. Joe stage in the past. Miss Irene Gregorovitch, who just last year played opposite John Bettenbender in the lead of The Detective Story, now takes the part of dear old Abby. The star of last year's play, The Male Animal, Mrs. Ruth Nelson will play the opposite part of Martha.

Joseph Bak will play the role of Dr. Einstein, Bill Schuler assumes the part of Officer O'Hara. Ronnie Cole is cast for Officer Klein, and John Marsh for Witherspoon. In the role of Mr. Gibbs, Gerry Gladu was cast, and John White plays the part of Officer Brophy.

Dr. Harper, the minister, will be played by Charles Vietzen and Bill Walters will take the role of Rooney.

The amorous minister's daughter will be enacted by the talented and experienced Helen Feldhaus, who also has acted on the St. Joe stage many times. Leading roles in The Miser by Moliere, The Drunkard by Smith, and The Vagabond by Cohan are included in her repertoire.

SM Concert Given For SJ

By Dick Bender

The combined choirs of St. Regina's High School and St. Mark's Grade School entertained a capacity crowd in St. Joseph's auditorium Oct. 23 the hour-and-a-half program by the versatile and talented organization included religious hymns, nursery rhymes, popular songs, and a comedy act.

The program opened with a tribute to the Blessed Virgin Mary. The Girls sang "Ave Maria," a chant, and "Hail Holy Queen," by Mecklenborg. Following these were "Ave Verum," a hymn honoring the Blessed Sacrament, by Mecklenborg, "Angelus Domini," a tribute to St. Joseph, by Nees, and "Alla Trinitas" to the Holy Trinity, by Burney.

Following this was "Angel Serenade" by Braga. The group then rendered the tunes, "Sophomore Philosophy," by Dvorak, and the currently popular "If You Love Me," by Monnot.

The girls sang three musical versions of nursery rhymes, "Peter, Peter, Pumpkin Eater," arranged by Pohlman, "A. B. C.," by Wilson and "Peter Piper," by Bridge.

Ten Little Indians

The first half of the program concluded with the romantic "Lucky To Be Me," by Bernstein, and "Ten Little Indians" by Johnson.

The second half of the program began with Ehret's "The Happy Wanderer," especially arranged to salute the school; the humorous "We Saw the Sea," by Irving Berlin, and "Beyond the Blue Horizon," by Whiting.

Following these songs, a quartet sang Green's "Sentimental Journey." The program then changed

Who's Who Requisites

Congratulations to the ten seniors who were elected to represent St. Josephs in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. It must have been a tough job picking only ten out of this year's Senior class, but those chosen are truly worthy of the honor.

Being elected to Who's Who is not an honor one earns in his last year of college life. It is something he starts working for the first day he sets foot on the campus as a freshman. To merit Who's Who a student doesn't have to be an All American athlete, an honor student or a member of every campus club and organization.

He is a good student, however, a conscientious one who is always doing his best.

If he happens to be a good athlete, he is one who has the constant will to win. He is thankful to God for his ability and doesn't walk about the campus with his head in the air expecting underclassmen to bow down in admiration.

He doesn't belong to every campus club; but the ones he is in, he is active in. He is around when there is work to be done, and not just when pictures are to be taken for the yearbook.

You can find him decorating for a dance and when the dance is over he is there helping clean up. He is not always the one who does the planning and bossing of a job, but more often the one who does the manual labor. He is one who can be counted on, always willing to make any St. Joe affair a greater success.

Aside from being an active member of the student community, he is also active in the practice of his faith. The men whose pictures you see on the front page can often be seen at Mass and Communion on days other than Sunday.

Other members of the class of '55 might stop and think a minute as to why they were not elected to the Who's Who for in their mind each will be able to find a reason. Every underclassman should start working now so that he may merit the honor in his Senior year.

You can be justly proud of these ten men. They represent St. Joseph's and you may feel sure that no other college or university in the country could offer ten finer.

Thank You, Mr. Kilmer

By Joe Kneip

The lead sentence of the concert story in the first issue of STUFF read, "Mr. Richard Kilmer, chairman of the College Entertainment Committee, has announced that a series of six concerts will be given during the academic year." The story went on, giving a brief sketch of each artist.

As the story was being written, we couldn't help but think of last year's concert series and the corresponding poor attendance. Frankly, we anticipated the same reception this year.

We were, therefore, quite surprised when the students all but filled the auditorium for the opening concert. And, after a short delay, they were rewarded by hearing a true artist perform. Certainly, Miss Herta Glaz was well received by the St. Joe students.

There is reason then to believe that the remaining performances on the program will be just as enjoyable. Basing our judgment on the first performance, we would venture to guess that the concert season at St. Joseph's will be a successful one.

The reason for the success is not hard to discover; it lies, of course, in the talent. A quick look behind the Collegeville scenes will reveal that the chairman, Mr. Kilmer, has acted above and beyond the call of duty in procuring talent for the six performances.

It was a happy day indeed when, at the end of the last school term, Mr. Kilmer assumed the responsibilities of the College Entertainment Committee. Through hard work and, in many cases, using his own personal acquaintances and connections, and with the full cooperation of the administration, six of the outstanding artists in the country agreed to appear at St. Joseph's.

It was no easy matter to acquire a pianist of the reputation of Theodore Lettvin. Neither was it easy to schedule Louis Kaufman, one of the world's most celebrated violinists. Yet they are both on the program, along with two other famous musical stars, and one of America's finest string quartets.

And so, in recognition of his outstanding work, we thought we would put forth four inches of type to say, "Thank you, Mr. Kilmer."

Xavierite Ranks High On Campus

One of the biggest men on campus at the present time is a full-time boarder at Xavier Hall. He is perhaps the only resident of a student hall that doesn't have to worry about semester exams. You would think that with his size he would have no trouble meeting the eligibility requirements for participation in varsity sports, but this is not the case. It is neither scholastic shortcomings nor inability to play because he is a Xavierite that keeps him off the teams. Rudy, as some of you already know, is the mascot of the seminarians.

We mean it literally when we say that Rudy is a B.M.O.C. (Big Man on Campus), for there are not many fellows who stand six feet, two inches in their bare feet. Although he looks the part, Rudy is not a white horse but a Great Dane. His light color may be attributed to the fact that Rudy is one of a type of Danes known as Harlequins. These dogs are usually white with some black markings.

Rudy's present standing is that of a second semester sophomore, for it was just two years ago in February that Rudy arrived on campus. At that time he was just a pup, although it is rather difficult to imagine an animal weighing nearly 150 pounds as ever being a pup. Rev. Joseph Hiller was responsible for obtaining the dog from some of his friends in Detroit.

Rudy is constantly under the special care of one of the seminarians, whose duty it is to feed and wash the big dog. This duty is rotated among the Xavierites at various intervals. Practically no danger is involved in feeding Rudy, for like most of his breed, he is quite gentle. In one respect the big canine is disappointing for it has not learned a single trick.

Rudy, the Great Dane

Commerce Club Plans Schedule For Coming Year

The Commerce Club, with the largest membership in recent years, has begun mapping out its program for 1954-55. Already included on the tentative schedule are discussions, guest speakers, and industrial tours.

The November meeting of the Club will feature a discussion by instructors in Business Administration and Economics on some aspects of the current economic picture. In December, the club has also booked a tour of an industrial plant in South Bend, to be designated at a later time.

Founded in 1937 by the late Rev. Albert Gordon, the Commerce Club aims to acquaint students with the various opportunities in businesses and professions available upon graduation. Membership includes all those majoring in Business Administration, Accounting, Economics, and the Social Studies. At the end of each year, members with three years' enrollment are given awards at a special banquet. Another feature of the banquet is a talk by an outstanding leader in the business or professional world.

This year's club officers are John Gorman, president; George Kalafut, vice-president; Roger Uecker, secretary; and Tom Dudek, treasurer.

MUSINGS ON THE MIXER . . . The student may be wondering, as we were, as to what exactly brought about the sudden change in the attitude of Rosary College concerning the St. Joe mixers. So to provide an answer your reporters decided to attend the festivities at the Rec Hall last Saturday night to see and ask for ourselves. It was not an easy task to speak to and to dance with all those beautiful women, but at the end of the evening we had obtained what we think to be a fairly representative opinion.

Many times in the past few years contacts had been established between the two colleges on the possibility of social gatherings, but because of administration at Rosary which did not favor overnight trips to men's colleges, no dances were held. Last year, however, a new administration was installed at Rosary, and with it the question was reopened. Through the efforts of Hugh McAvoy, former St. Joe Student Council president, an agreement was reached to schedule a mixer between the two schools at the earliest possible date. Because of the fact that our social calendar was filled for last year by the time this agreement was made, no mixers were held. This year, however, was a different story. Besides the dance last weekend, at least one other is scheduled for the Collegeville campus this year, and Rosary has assured us that a standing invitation is always open for the Pumas at the River Forest school. Rosary has now officially been added to the long list of women's schools with which St. Joe has social contacts.

One definite opinion of the Rosary girls was that the very excellent concert given by St. Mark's grammar school and Regina high school of Cincinnati, more than anything brought out and typified the spirit of St. Joe's.

Embarrassing Isn't It.

When in the course of human events, your veteran columnists do make a mistake, it is our policy to print a retraction. Last issue we spelled Ed Hebda's name wrong. The correct spelling is H-E-D-B-A, no that doesn't look right either; it's H-E-E-B-D-A, or is it E-H- D- B-A. Oh well, he knows we're thinking of him.

On the Sports Scene

We were wondering whether the IM directors had anything to do with the athletic contests being held in the senior halls. It seems that the boys from Washburne Manor and Hopkins House have been competing for the mousecatching title of Collegeville. For every mouse caught, there is a bonus of 100 points. Present leaders are John Cheevers and Tom Morgan. Speaking of Intramurals, have Don Merki and Ed Zander decided yet who is going to flip the coin in case of ties?

Here, There, and Nowhere

Seen—Groups of freshmen trudging to the Palace to see "From Here to Eternity," disillusioned when it wasn't a science fiction epic.

Disappointment—Jules Cheigny received a greeting from Uncle Sam just after he had joined the Peerless Cleaning firm.

Anxiety—Mr. Richard Kilmer pacing back and forth until Miss Herta Glaz made her appearance a half-hour late.

Famous Last Words—"The best way to pass a test is to get a good night's sleep the night before."

Overheard—Jack Carlson's greeting to the Rosary girls: "Over there's the gym, over there's the Ad Building, over there's Noll Hall, over there's Gaspar Hall, and over that way's the Grotto. Now, who wants to go to the Grotto?"

PADDLINGS . . . Bruce Meyer calling the Rensselaer police to report a stolen car after Father Schaefer had moved it to another spot . . . Joe Russo calling home every night . . . Brothers John, Gerard, Conrad, and others trying out the new pin-ball machine at the Rec Hall, Don't tilt it, boys . . . Louis Giacomini massaging his eyebrows in hopes that he could comb them back over his head . . . Jim Perkins, the smallest man in the Hopkins house, is also the only one there who plays football . . . "Wimpy" Klimcak anxious to get home for Halloween . . . Mr. Randy Decker passing out cigars in his Journalism class after the birth of his new baby daughter . . . Joe Kneip babysitting for him during his many trips to the hospital . . . When Dave Krigbaum came into Hopkins house the other night and it was obvious that he had either been drinking Orange Crush or had had another date . . . Joe Takash taking Metaphysics because he thought it was a Phy. Ed. course in the gym . . . 100% of the students smoking Winston cigarettes . . . Willie Kellogg running a party for the grammar school girls from St. Mark's Glee Club . . . Tom McGreal and Dick Hedberg going home for the Antioch (Ill.) Homecoming . . . the Baldwin twins going to Uncle Sam . . . Max Roberts still holding the bag . . . Sophomores at Drexel complaining over not being able to have late lights at all . . . Pre-med students Marty Koerner and Myron Keel losing their first patient; a white rabbit, who failed to survive an operation . . . Norm Hudecki journeying to Milwaukee a couple of weeks ago to see a Marquette girl . . . 5 cases of whiskey from the last Revels still in Father Schaefer's room . . . Disappearance of the fried chicken we used to have last year . . . At long last it's here, a Pizza place for Rensselaer . . . Good-by, so long . . .

PUMATTERS

By Dick Obergfell

The St. Joe Pumas have a gold mine in halfback Bob Hamman. The freshman scatback from Kentland, Ind., is currently leading all other ground gainers on the squad. Bob has carried the load 36 times for a net gain of 255 yards.

But of all the real estate that Bob has accounted for the one that stands out most is the little jaunt in the Butler Bowl. With the score 26-0 in favor of the Bulldogs Ralph Tite received the Butler kickoff on the goal line to open the second half. Tite handed the ball to Hamman, who tucked it behind his leg and headed up the sidelines. He out-maneuvered the final defender on the 40-yard line, and covered the remaining 60 yards untouched for the longest kickoff return in conference history.

The old record was set by Valpo's Tom Pahr against Indiana State in 1951. Pahr's return covered 91 yards.

It looks as though Evansville is in as conference champs this year. The Aces are tied with Valparaiso for the league lead, both teams having a 4-1 mark. The leaders have but one game remaining to be played; Evansville travels to Ball State on November 6 and the Crusaders meet Butler at home next week.

The ICC has given many of the alleged football experts gray hair this year. I wonder how they would pick the Ball State-St. Joseph game knowing that Ball State defeated Butler, Butler beat St. Joe, St. Joseph's edged Indiana State, and Indiana State whipped Ball State.

Sports in spots! Bill Parish, who scored two touchdowns last Saturday, didn't play in the first half. He missed the bus in Lafayette. Jack "Goose" Morrison is the horseshoe throwing champ of the Morrison Industrial Corporation. St. Joe is averaging only 31.1 yards per punt, Ralph Tite is leading the Pumas in total offense with 468 net yards gained, 98 by rushing and 370 by passing. Quarterback Gordon Helms of Valparaiso set a new ICC record as he threw four touchdown passes against Ball State last Saturday.

Action Torrid In IM Play

The fight for the IM crown has been narrowed down to a conflict of the classes. The Lions, a sophomore squad, led the American league with a 3-0 record, while the National League is headed by Brewers. The Brewers are a power-packed senior group.

The Brewers led by the passing of Gus Pasquini whipped the Tigers 44-0 in their opener. Pasquini scored three times on runs of 5, 40, and 65 yards. The senior southpaw hit Steve Patun twice and Don Normandt once for three more scores. Following the Tiger victory, the leaders whipped the Hurricanes 36-0. Again it was Pasquini leading the way with his runs and passes. The second place Unpredictables proved to be a stronger foe. At the end of the regulation period the score was knotted 0-0, but the Brewers pulled it out in an overtime.

The American League boasts of the Student Council tourney champion Lions, who led the pack with a 3-0 mark. Following the Lions are the Imperials and the Vets who are tied for second. The Vets are yet to play the leaders, while the Imperials dropped a forfeit contest to the Lions.

The leading scores are:

Aces Cut Loose In Second Half, Beat St. Joe In 27-20 Thriller

Ohio Wesleyan, Northern To Close 1954 Season

St. Joseph's small but scrappy Pumas outplayed the heavily favored Evansville Aces for two periods Oct. 23, 1954, but fumbled away an upset victory in the final half losing 27-20.

Three St. Joe fumbles were converted into scores as Evansville crossed the Puma goal line four times in the final two periods after St. Joe electrified the home crowd by running up a 20-0 half time margin.

It was a St. Joe fumble on Evansville's 29-yard line that started the Aces rolling shortly after the second half opened. It took just seven plays for Evansville to score, the drive being climaxed by a 27-yard pass play. Ray Regner, St. Joe end, then fumbled the ensuing kickoff and six plays later, the visitors had another score.

After fullback Ken Lutterbach, Evansville's leading groundgainer, had plunged one yard for the Aces' third touchdown, Bob Hamman, St. Joe halfback, fumbled, and the Aces were on their way again. Bill Parish went the final eight yards for the tally. Bob Scott added three extra points.

Basil Scores

Touchdown runs by Bill Basil and Tom Agnew, and a scoring pass from Dan Lyman to Basil, had the Puma fans rubbing their eyes in disbelief during the first half. Midway through the first period, Basil scooted around end for 80 yards and the Pumas took the lead.

An 18-yard scoring gallop by Agnew opened the second period, and coupled with Effing's conversion, made the score 13-0. With two minutes remaining in the half, Lyman's pass found Basil all alone in the end zone and the score soared to 20-0.

Bill Basil scored twice in the Puma loss to the Evansville Aces. Bill scored the first St. Joe touchdown with an 80 yard run in the first quarter. His second 6 pointer came on a 12 yard pass from Dan Lyman.

Pumas Tire

Then came the second half, and the tiring Pumas were stricken with fumble-itis. The larger Evansville line, some 15 pounds per man heavier than the Pumas, began putting pressure on the St. Joe backfield and their jarring tackles soon resulted in the disastrous fumbles.

The Pumas now have two victories and three defeats in Indiana Collegiate Conference play, and will travel to Muncie, Indiana Saturday in an effort to improve their record at the expense of Ball State. The Cardinals lost to Valparaiso 46-21 in their last outing and have a 2-2 record in the conference.

St. Joseph's Pumas, with three victories to show for their six games played this season, will take to the road for two of their three remaining games.

Trips to Muncie, Ind., and Westerville, Ohio, where the Pumas will meet Ball State and Otterbein College have been scheduled for the next two Saturdays. The season finale will feature Ohio Northern University here at Collegeville for the annual Dad's Day game.

The Ball State game Saturday will conclude St. Joseph's ICC season. The Cardinals have won two of their four games in conference play, and still have a chance to tie for the ICC crown.

Governor Grady, a 170 pound halfback, is State's "Mr. Everything." The talented junior, leading scorer in the state last year, runs, passes, punts, kicks extra points, tackles, and does everything but carry the water bucket for the Cardinals.

Blocking up front for Grady will be two all-conference linemen, end Ernie Butler and tackle Ralph Cook.

St. Joe has won three of the nine games played between the two schools; two of the games have been ties.

Neither of the Ohio schools have had a winning season thus far this year but both are meeting good, solid opposition and play a tough brand of football.

Otterbein, a member of the Ohio Athletic Conference, is coached by Harry Ewing who has been at Westerville for 20 years. The Otters have been known to rise to the occasion and win that one big game as they did back in 1891 when they defeated Ohio State 42-6.

Ohio Northern, located at Ada, Ohio, in the north eastern part of the state, is coached by Clyde Lamb. The Polar Bears are members of the Mid-Ohio Conference. Leading ground-gainers for the Ohioans are halfbacks Denny Irons and Frank Cortazzo, and fullback Don Sutherland. The Molitor boys, Wilber and Clarence, anchor a line that averages nearly 200 pounds per man.

Ohio Northern is a co-educational school with an enrollment of approximately 800.

Football Holds Xavier Interest

By Gregor Dues

Xavier's IM football season has slowed down to let the weather and reading clinic take precedence. Only six games have been played and the Vandals remain in an undisputed first place with two victories and one tie.

The Greeks, crippled by the absence of their captain, lost a close game to Kinderman's Romans 6-0. A short touchdown pass to lineman Thomas Burke gave the Romans a lead which they maintained the whole game.

In the next game the Romans succumbed to Krabbe's Swedes 6-0. The Swedes' only touchdown came from Daniel Heckman's interception. Heckman intercepted another pass in the latter part of the game and ran 50 yards. This stopped Kinderman's team who were in scoring position on their opponents twenty-yard line.

The game between the Vandals and Greeks, captained by the Schmidt twins, ended in a 6-6 tie. Gerard Schmidt will be captain of Xavier's team in the interhall tournament.

Hamman High; Butler Downs SJ 40-12 In ICC Tilt

By Dick Obergfell

The powerful Butler Bulldogs outran, outpassed, and outscored St. Joe as they handed the Pumas their second ICC setback. The capital city squad scored twice in the first three periods and limited the visitors to two meager scores in the final half.

Fullback Leroy Thompson and halfback Nolan Masters led the way in the 40-12 route of the Pumas. The scoring opened early in the first period as Masters grabbed a deflected pass from quarterback Les Gerlach and raced 16 yards to paydirt. Knox kicked his first of four extra points and the locals led 7-0. But the scoring parade had just begun. Before the teams could change goals Leroy Thompson climaxed a Bulldog drive by plunging for a one yard score.

The opening play of the second quarter proved to be a disastrous one for Coach Bob Jauron's crew. The Puma field general, Ralph Tite, dropped back to throw, he was rushed, but passed anyway. It was complete to the Bulldog's right tackle, Jim Baker. The big lineman ambled 16 yards for the third Butler touchdown. Dan Lehane's attempt fell short of the mark. Half-time didn't come soon enough, however, for the invaders from Collegeville. Sub-quarterback Dick Ahrendts found time to hit end John Herrell in the end zone.

100 Yard Run

The St. Joe left half, Bob Hamman, brought the Puma rooters to their feet for the first time on the opening play of second half. Hamman provided the offensive play of the day as he took a kickoff hand-off from Tite and raced 100 yards for the Pumas' initial score. But Tony Hinkle's boys were not to be outdone. Nolan Masters grabbed Merle Effing's boot on the 22, plowed straight up the middle for 82 yards and a touchdown trip. Thompson added the final score for the home team on a two-yard drive late in the third quarter.

St. Joe put together their only scoring drive late in the final period when they moved 80 yards in 12 plays with Tite covering the final yard for the score.

Senior fullback Clayton Klein has been the work horse for the Pumas this year. The 6' 1", 198 lb. back has carried the load 52 times in five games. Clay, who hails from Morocco, Ind., is playing his third year of varsity ball.

George Archibald, sophomore agricultural student, tends a 700 pound black boer on the St. Joe farm. The farm is largely responsible for the abundance of good food in the college cafeteria. It is recognized as one of the best farms in the state.

SJ Farming Thrives

By Owen Weitzel

One of the most interesting phases of St. Joseph's is the vast amount of farming carried on within the 1600 acres of college boundaries. As the visitor travels along U. S. Highway 53, he can see the numerous fields of corn and soybeans. But crop-raising is not the only phase of work on the Collegeville farm. There is another phase with which most of us are unfamiliar—the livestock and poultry division.

Approximately 700 acres in back of Drexel comprises the livestock raising land. Most of this provides permanent pasture for cattle and hogs. The rest of the land is occupied by one large sow barn, a cattle and hog barn, a tool shed, a poultry slaughter house, and a crib with a capacity of 6000 bushels of small grain and 6000 bushels of ear corn. Besides these buildings, there are two large hen houses and six houses for broiler chickens.

For 25 years, this division has been run by Mr. George Schuster. Under his supervision, it has increased in size and efficiency to become one of the best livestock farms in the area. His assistants are Brother John Kreuzhermes, who has worked on the farm since 1934, and George Archibald, a sophomore agricultural student.

St. Joseph's livestock is divided into three categories: hogs, cattle, and poultry.

1000 Hogs

Throughout the year there are about 900 to 1000 hogs on the farm. Among these are 70 sows, which bear two litters of pigs a year, with an average of seven pigs to a litter. When a sow has pigs, she nurses them about 10 weeks before they are separated from her. After this, the young pigs are put into the field and fed corn and other food to supplement their growth. In general, it requires about 400 pounds of corn to raise a pig's weight to 100 pounds. When they reach approximately 200 pounds, they are sold, good market conditions prevailing.

However, before they go to market, the essentially good females from large litters are separated from the rest of the hogs and used for breeding. These will bear four or five litters before being sold.

There are two pig markets in this vicinity. Chicago is the largest and most frequently used, with Indianapolis being the second principal market. Prices determine the market to be used.

On The Hoof

Cattle is the second division in the livestock department. All are white-faced Herefords and obtained from Kansas City and Omaha. When purchased they weigh from 500 to 800 pounds. After arriving at the farm, these cattle are placed in the 200 acres of permanent pasture, where they are allowed to graze. During the winter months they are put into the cattle barn where they are fed hay and silage. Upon reaching 1300 pounds, they are taken to the market and sold. Thus, the cattle raising at St. Joseph's is one of purchasing rather than breeding, as in the hog division.

The third division of this section is poultry. In this line, the farm raises almost 3000 broiler chickens a year. Purchased as young chicks, they are fed from a period of 12 to 14 weeks before being prepared and delivered to the college food locker. Besides broiler chickens, there are 900 laying hens which provide eggs for the cafeteria. Every day about 300 eggs are gathered from the nests in the two hen-houses.

Congratulations

Congratulations to Mr. Randall Decker, head of the college news bureau, on the arrival of the newest member to his family. Mrs. Decker gave birth to a seven pound, ten ounce baby girl on Oct. 17.

Iowa U Host Freshmen Plan Elections For Geology For Early November Field Meet

By Dick Bender

Eight students and their instructors from the college Geology Department participated in the Tri-State Geology Field Meet, which was sponsored by Iowa University.

The meeting was held Oct. 15-17. The meeting, attended by 250 professors and students from various Midwestern colleges and universities, consisted of a series of lectures and field examinations of points of geologic interest in a 200 mile area of Northeastern Iowa. The geologists were especially concerned with the study of paleontology (early plant and animal fossils) and with earth strata of the Ordovician and Silurian periods, which were found in road cuts and old quarries.

Heading the St. Joseph delegation to the meet were Rev. Carl Nieset and r. Elmar Walters, instructors in geology. Accompanying them were Frank Hirsch, John Cheevers, Bob Nelson, Emil Jane, Robert Conley, Ted DeBrosse, Patrick Hogan, and Walter Zakes. Also at the meeting were Rev. Donald Ballman, instructor in geology, now on leave of absence for post-graduate studies at the University of Illinois and two former St. Joe students: Eugene Ziemba, '53, of Illinois, and George Herr, '53 of Indiana.

Monogram Club Plans Fall Dance For Dad's Day

John Donnelly, president of the Monogram Club, has announced that the club will hold its annual dance Saturday evening, Nov. 13th. The dance is known as the Fall Frolic and the music will be provided by Fletcher Butler and his orchestra of "Revels" Fame.

Tickets will be three dollars and will go on sale at the evening meal on Tuesday, Nov. 3. You are urged to get your tickets as soon as possible as only a limited number of accommodations will be available. Remember how fast the tickets went for the Revels over the Homecoming weekend? Housing for dates will be arranged at the time of your ticket purchase.

The afternoon of the dance the Pumas will face Ohio Northern in the last home game of the season. It will also be "Dad's Day" and the fathers of all St. Joe men are especially invited up for the day.

Freshman elections are here again! On Oct. 19 at 9:00 p.m., the freshman class assembled mainly to learn the requirements necessary for a good officer. Good academic and disciplinary standings, and school spirit were the qualities stressed. The latter, school spirit, was discussed at length, since it depends very much on class spirit which in turn leans on the class officers.

Later, all prospective officers filled out forms which stated that they wished to run and that they would uphold the standards of St. Joseph's College. These forms were then given to each person's counselor and hall prefect and to the class moderators, Rev. Richard Baird and Mr. Richard Kilmer.

As soon as approval is given, the candidates will seek petitions from their fellow classmates. This will assure the candidates that they have a large enough following whether they run on a party ticket or not.

Generally the campaign opens with a class meeting. All the candidates managers will deliver nomination speeches to be followed by the acceptance speeches of the candidates. After this, open campaigning officially begins.

The candidates of this year will follow the policies of previous years. There will be posters and bills placed throughout the college and candidates will set aside times and places for their speeches to set forth their policies.

Elections will begin at the close of the campaign. Freshmen will not have to vote on a straight ticket.
